

Unit Testing

AnyBuy

Team AnyBuy

Matthew Krone

06/05/18

For our project I focused most of my testing on the buy page, sell page, add address page and the add payment page. To test these pages I would generally start by leaving the page blank to see if the page submits with no information. Then after doing that check I would go down the list filling out the fields of info to see if there were any specific fields that needed to be filled to make it submit. Next I would fill in information that does not match what the field should have to see if it would submit with incorrect characters. For example if the field required a number I would write characters to see if it would submit.