ISADMK0001	AddAddress	Add Address
0xFFFF		Doesn't Crash

I went to the address page, went to add a new address without any info and pressed the add button.

Upon pressing the add address with no info inputted the app proceeds back to the address page and shows a comma showing that it stored something just not an actual address.

No line error.

This would be fixed with an if statement that involved checking each field making sure that the user is actually putting in information.
